-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 7-12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 2/02/2007.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Feesler (US 6,343,550).

Regarding claim 1, Feesler discloses “a flexographic printing plate (Figure 3) including a raised part (item 40) for transferring a printing substance to a printing substrate, said raised part having a top surface and a side (see the top surface and c, and said top surface and said side forming an angle of not less than 90° and not more than 105° (column 4, lines 13-15).”

Regarding claim 2, Feesler further discloses “wherein said angle is not less than 95° and not more than 100° (column 4, lines 13-15).”

Regarding claim 3, Feesler further discloses "wherein said top surface is shaped as a line when viewed from above (figures 6-8), and has a bent portion (figure 8; see portion of image below for how Examiner interprets the term 'bent portion')."

Regarding claim 4, Feesler further discloses "a flexographic printer (figure 4) including the flexographic printing plate according to claim 1 (figure 4)."

Regarding claim 5, Feesler further discloses "a method of producing a printed substance, wherein printing is performed using the flexographic printing plate according to claim 1 (operation of Figure 5)."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2854

3. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Feesler, as applied to claim 5 above, in view of Chen et al. (US 2004/0099389).

Regarding claim 6, Feesler discloses all that is claimed, but fails to mention either the type of printing substance or the viscosity of the printing substance used in the printing. Chen et al. teach "using a printing substance with a viscosity of not less than 40 Pa·s" in order to print on textiles or absorbent webs (paragraph 15). Therefore, at the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use a higher viscosity printing substance in the method of Feesler in order to print on textiles.
